

Estate Administration

Relief. That's what our attorneys hear from their clients after we have begun to assist them with the legalities arising when a loved one passes. The probate process can seem intimidating, but our experienced lawyers have aided executors and administrators through the process time and time again.

We assist our clients in complying with the myriad of state and federal tax laws involved with settling a decedent's estate, and work hard to protect our clients while facilitating the transfer of wealth that was the intention of the person who died.

We assist our clients in administering estates promptly, carefully, and our experience gives us an edge in avoiding the pitfalls that can cost heirs money. Our attorneys have the knowledge that comes with experience of having handled many estates of all different sizes. When you confront a problem, it helps that we've seen and successfully addressed the same situation before. It has been said that a Will is a person's last solemn declaration. We assist you to live up to the obligation to honor those wishes.
